A BIG PART OF ANY college student’s experience is where they live while at school. As part of the University, Housing, Dining & Auxiliary Enterprises is dedicated to UCSB’s mission and we are here for you for your entire college experience. We offer something for everyone... the social interaction and convenience of residence halls, independent living in apartments, and communities for traditional and non-traditional families, all within easy biking distance to classes. Live-in staff members and Community Council student representatives plan numerous educational and social programs geared toward academic and personal success. We have more than 800 leadership and employment opportunities, most of which go to our residents. Four dining commons offer multiple menu choices and extensive meal hours to meet a variety of needs and maximize convenience.
THE RESIDENCE HALLS are a great way to meet people and get involved. UCSB operates eight residence halls in three campus locations with a variety of building styles and floor plans. Community comforts are enhanced with recreation facilities including basketball and volleyball courts, lounges for events and studying, and off-street bikeways. Living Learning Communities connect students who have similar interests. The 9-month contract includes a room with furnishings, a meal plan, utilities, high-speed wired and wireless internet, regular housekeeping, and 24-hour on-call maintenance. While all residence halls remain open to residents during the Thanksgiving break for no extra cost, housing is also available during winter and spring breaks in select buildings for an additional fee.

JOIN YOUR FRIENDS for meals in any of four dining commons. Each unit offers an extensive menu featuring organic, local and sustainable food, salad bars, fresh fruit, and a variety of entrees and cooked-to-order specialties. Convenient meal hours including a late-night option make it easy for students to design meal times to fit their schedules. A meal plan is a required part of the residence hall room and board package. Students not living in the residence halls can purchase a flexible meal plan to eat while they are on campus. Menu offerings and nutritional information are available daily on www.housing.ucsb.edu/dining.

Living Learning Communities (LLCs)

Living Learning Communities (LLCs) provide a unique and engaging community experience through themed living options. As a member of an LLC you’ll be able to connect with students who share similar interests, participate in fun and exciting activities, and explore your community’s theme through programs with faculty and staff mentors. Although LLCs are optional, they are a rewarding aspect of living in the residence halls! See the list on the right for some examples of LLCs throughout our eight residence halls. To see the full list, please visit our website. LLCs are subject to change; please check the website to learn more.

UCSB OPERATES nine unique apartment complexes that are available for graduate and 3rd and 4th year undergraduate students. Whether you are a single student or a student with a family, the apartments offer independence, as well as access to a community of fellow students. Apartments include living rooms, bathrooms, and kitchens. Residents may prepare their own meals, or purchase a meal plan for the dining commons. Community comforts include high-speed wired and wireless internet, space for recreation and study, on-site laundry facilities, and 24-hour on-call maintenance.

SOME STUDENTS live in privately-owned housing close to UCSB. Community Housing Services offers many services to students, including an online database of rentals, education on leases and tenants’ rights, move-in/out videotaping, and mediation. See www.housing.ucsb.edu/cho for all services.
